AMBIENTS

Ambients is the debut album by experimental English ambient-electro artist Synoiz.

Written to be universally accessible without the constraints of language, the 14 instrumental tracks of Ambients urge the listener to focus more on the emotional significance of the songs.

Each track on the album attempts to portray a different emotion or representative state of mind progressing from childlike innocence through to harsh industrial reality.

Ambients is a unique experiment created through the use of both synthesisers and self-sampled environmental noise ranging from soothing forest ambience to clattering metal bins.

Includes the melancholic first single “Long Lost...” as well as the upcoming second single “Getting Safer”.
